INDIANA COLLECTION

The symbol that represents the 1965 Voyager and is depicted on the division pages is a compass. Why has a compass been chosen to represent this past school year?

First, our Voyager's compass stands for the school itself and its influence; its ability to point a student in the right direction.

Its four points indicate the four major facets of Fairfield's activity: our administration, Mr. Richardson and Mr. Schwab, the faculty, the secretaries, the custodians, and the cooks; the classroom, where we accomplish the purpose of our being here; the extra-curricular activities, our service clubs, band, and the others; and the athletics, our football and basketball teams, the cheerleaders, and the coaches.

Last of all, as a real compass indicates direction, this compass symbolizes the fact that what we have accomplished during our years at Fairfield is a major indication of what is in store for the future.

This busy office was Fairfield's nerve center. All of the complications of school life eventually found their way here to be solved.

Checking excuses was only one of the many services Mr. Stauffer performed in the audio-visual room.

Fairfield's Activity Shows Efforts Of Spartans

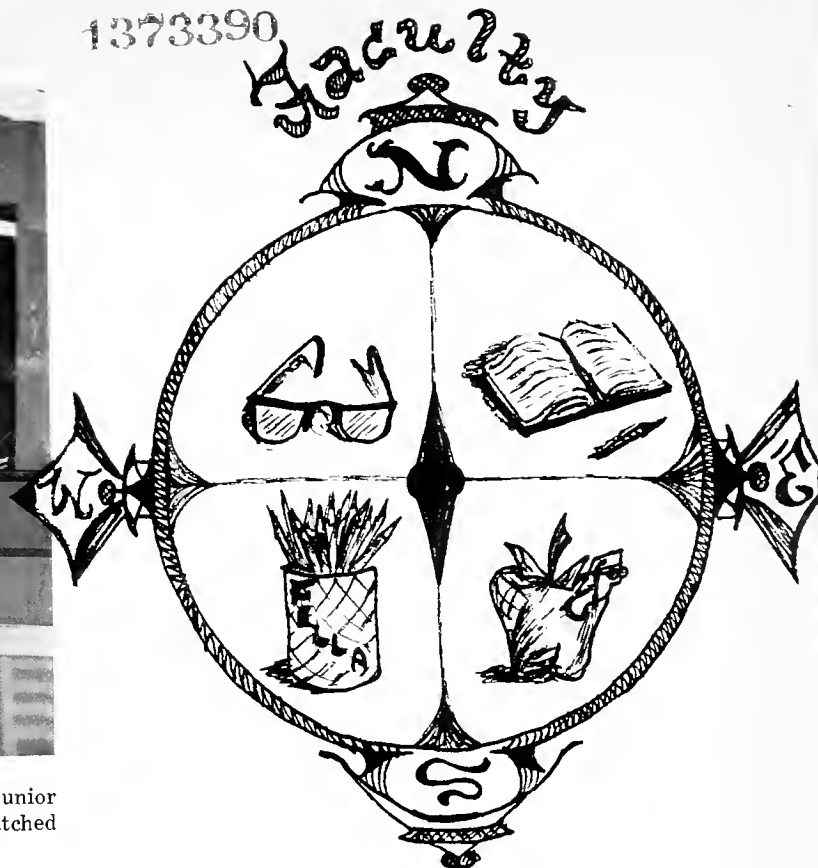

The fine work rendered by Fairfield's representative body emphasized the tremendous effort put forth by Oscar Dowdell as president, Kayla Spillson as vice-president, Patti Bressler as secretary, and the other members of the Student Council.

Mr. James Richardson, principal of Fairfield Junior High School since its beginning, has proudly watched the school and the students mature.

Friendly Assistance To Guide Us

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Frederick complete jobs and tasks that keep the school running smoothly.

Thanks Given For Services Rendered

These volunteer office workers collect absence slips, deliver bulletins, and help the secretaries in the office. These jobs are among the many they perform during the day.

Our competent custodial staff always keeps Fairfield clean, a school we can all be very proud of.

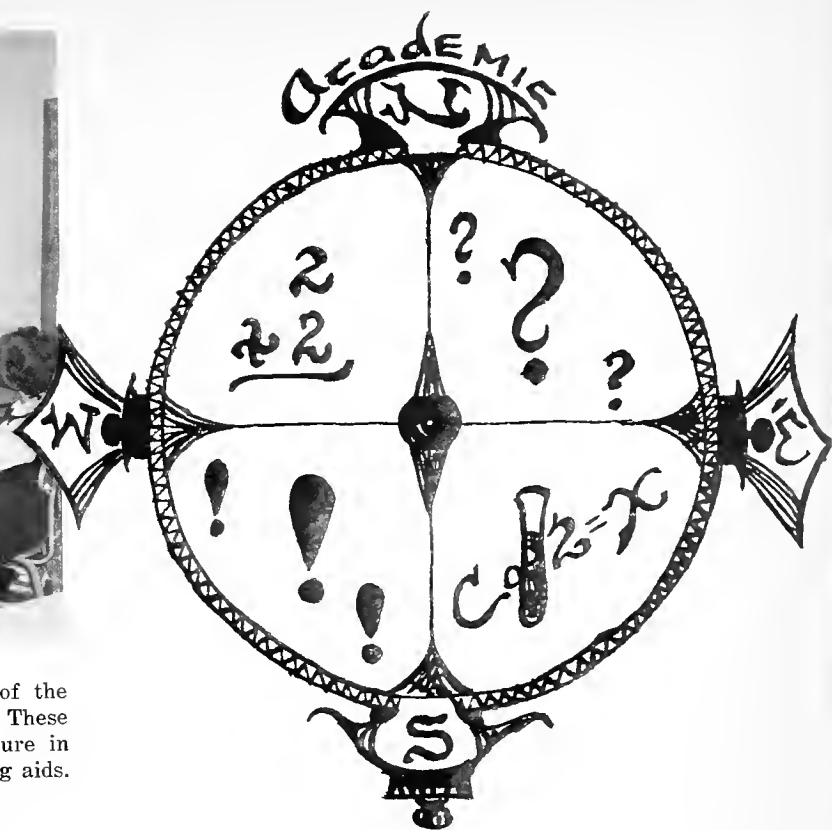

Well-balanced meals are always in store for those who buy their lunch prepared by the well-qualified staff of cooks.

Mastering the written word is the purpose of the seventh grade developmental reading classes. These students become acquainted with fine literature in the school library and through various reading aids.

Communicating With Others; The Language Arts

This seventh grade language arts class is tape recording its version of Treasure Island, one of the many pieces of literature studied in this class.

The written legacy of the ancient Roman Empire is the subject matter of Mrs. Tyler's Latin class. The incorporation of projects, book reports, and songs help add to the interest of the students.

Ancient And Modern; The Languages

The mastery of the French language is the purpose of Mrs. Ferry's French class. The pupils enjoy the large amount of oral activity, including plays and French Christmas carols.

The relationship and interdependence of the countries of the world is the purpose of the seventh grade geography classes.

Our History And The World; Social Studies

The foundation of our country and its ideas are important subjects for eighth grade study.

Mr. Clauser demonstrates the instruments used to produce the various types of music studied by his seventh grade music class.

Mrs. DeHaven instructs her art students in the principles and techniques of good painting, drawing, and sketching.

Improving Ourselves; Music, Art, And Gym

Physical fitness in the form of muscular coordination and balance are of supreme importance in the physical education classes.

These boys could possibly be preparing for a future career as they learn mechanical drawing and work with metal, wood, and electricity in Mr. Kuntz's shop class.

Preparation For Tomorrow; The Domestic Skills

The home arts course taken by the seventh graders aims at the introduction of the basic skills needed in the home.

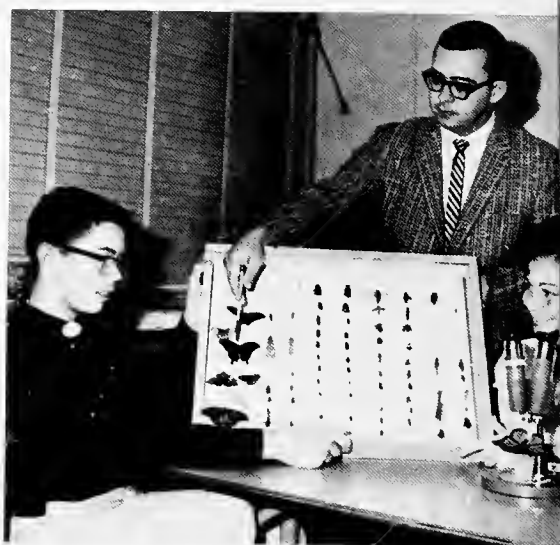

Future homemakers are being formed in the homey atmosphere of the home economics room.

The seven wonders of the world seem insignificant compared to this puzzling problem presented to one of Mrs. Sell's math students.

Numbers and Laws Of Nature; Mathematics, Science

The realm of the eighth grade general science book explores bits of chemistry, physics, anatomy, biology, astronomy, and meteorology.

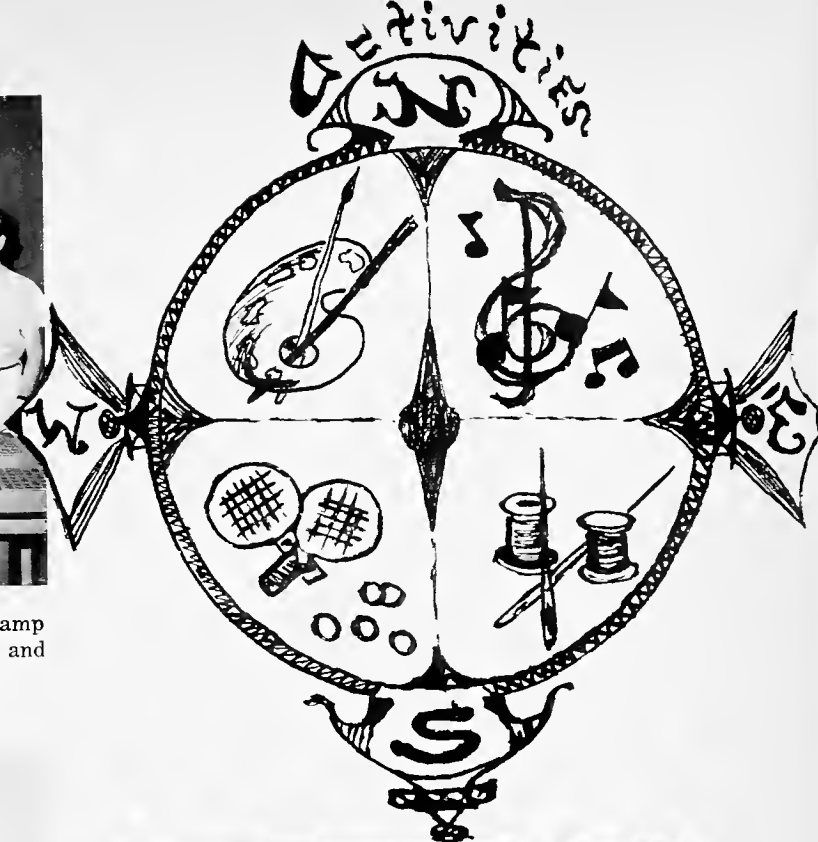

Chasing butterflies, examining microscopes, and dissecting worms are some of the experiences of the students of the biology classes as they discover some of the mysteries of living things.

This demonstration of basic chemistry is only one of the many paths to the understanding of the physical science class.

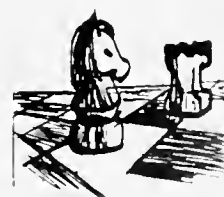

Mr. Schwab aids the members of the coin and stamp club in their quest for new and rare coins and stamps.

There is always a fascinating model to be constructed or repaired in the model club. The members enjoy exchanging ideas and models.

Mrs. Thomas enjoys helping ninth grade girls increase their knowledge of cooking and sewing.

Service Clubs Benefit All

Members of the library club find pleasure in aiding our librarian, Mrs. Cox, by serving the school in the library.

These boys spend their free time in the audio-visual room keeping the projectors, recorders, and record players in top condition. They also deliver these instruments to the teachers.

Members of the Booster Club can always be seen grading papers, selling pennants, and giving other beneficial aid to teachers.

Many students have enjoyed the facilities of the dance club.

Students Relax With Music, Dancing, And Art

Beautiful music can be heard as Mr. Clauser directs the Girls' Glee Club to prepare them for assemblies and other activities.

Designing the Voyager yearbook cover is only one of the many projects of Mrs. DeHaven's Art Club.

The Press Club provides many opportunities for ambitious students to display their talents in planning and writing a newspaper.

Students Dedicate Time To Publications

The Voyager Staff spends many hours planning the yearbook, hoping to produce a new and enjoyable book for all students.

The Chess Club provides many hours of relaxation for our students. Faculty members and students enjoy this fascinating game both during lunch hours and after school.

Cheering, Thinking; Activities Are For Any Mood

A mighty roar could be heard from all the members of the cheerblock as they spurred their team onto many victories.

Almost forty voices comprise the Fairfield chorus, which is led by Mr. Clauser. This group adds spark to assemblies and other concerts.

An Interest In Music Provides Recreation

Members of Fairfield's orchestra train for many hours to perform in concert.

airfield band might have been a little bit smaller, but no band could have been more energetic. Led by

Mr. West, it added much zest to home games and assemblies.

Members of the Junior Business Club learn techniques of typing and basic business information.

Students Enjoy An Interest In The Sciences

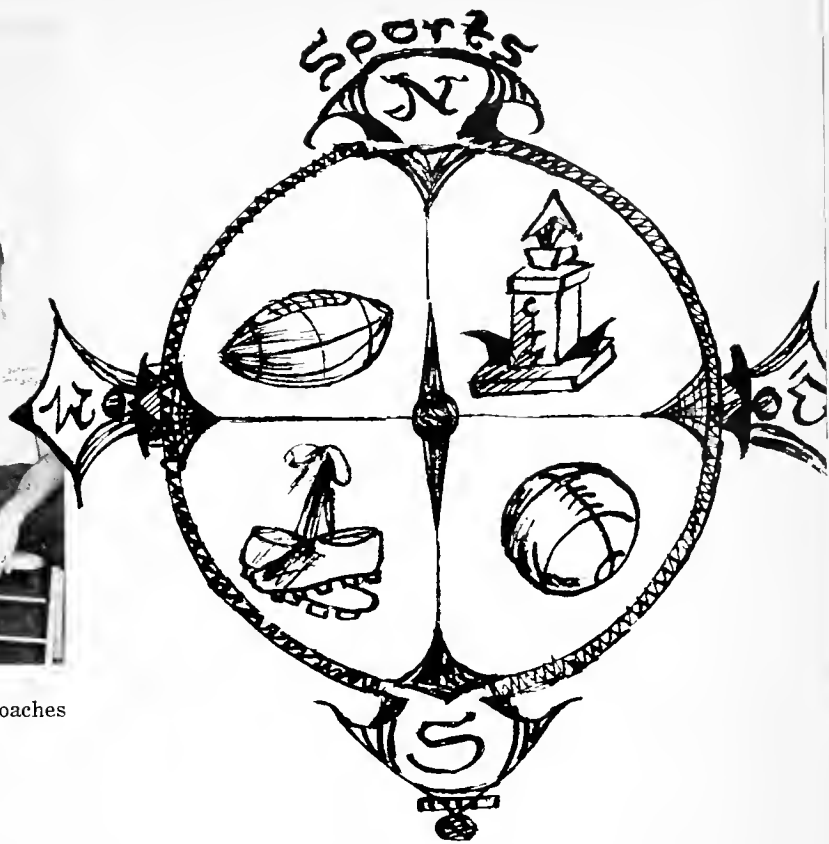

Miss Brosier finds many science enthusiasts who enjoy meeting weekly to discover the many mysteries of this subject.

The History Club gives students an opportunity to learn more about their heritage.

Much extra time and planning by our fine coaches added to the success of our athletic teams.

Attired in red skirts and sweaters with a big, blue "F," these girls led our reserve team to victory.

Five energetic cheerleaders represented the ninth grade. They contributed greatly to the success of our team.

Under the able leadership of Coach Stauffer the ninth grade quintet won every league contest but lost the final of the ninth grade tourney.

Not letting the varsity show them up, the seventh and eighth grade also went undefeated during the regular season. They also won the tourney championship.

Steve Bryant lays one in against the Franklin Chiefs. The game was won by Franklin 58-40.

Fairfield's tourney action began at home against Weisser Park. We defeated the Owls (48-27). Our next game was against Central. The game went into overtime. A near miss of a desperate shot meant the win for the Spartans (38-36). That night the mighty Spartans met Franklin in the tourney final. Our squad ran into a tough Franklin team and was defeated 58-40.

Jesse Collins (40) lays one in as Willie Goodwin (44) waits for a possible rebound during the championship game with Franklin.

Spartan Tourney Hopes Shattered In Final Game

After a hard-fought championship game the ninth grade Spartans pose for their tourney picture.

Jesse Collins, Harry Griffin, and Coach Stauffer accept the runner-up trophy from Clarence A. Biedeweg, Consultant for Physical Education and Health, Fort Wayne Community Schools.

Pictured above is the ninth grade football team. After many nights of hard practice the team compiled a record of two wins, three losses, and one tie.

Gridiron Squad Finishes With Fine Season

Coached by Mr. Habegger and Mr. Partridge the eighth grade grid squad blocked and tackled its way to an undefeated season.
